PERGOLAS

Standard Pergola Kits include Aluminum Beams, Rafters and Column Mounts.

Superior now offers a quality and engineer-approved "Pergola System". While more costly than wood, the increased performance provides safety and security for your home in even the harshest of weather conditions.

With full aluminum column mounts and metal-on-metal connections throughout the pergola, this system is designed to perform and last while maintaining its look with all the benefits of vinyl.

By consulting professional engineers and introducing a solid structural system, we are confident that our customers will be able to submit their pergola plans to a professional engineer for building code approval.

Raised garden beds reduce soil compaction, drain away excess moisture from plant roots and may lead to produce more vegetables and flowers per square foot.

Raised beds are used as a stylish way to design a garden or as a necessary tool for growing where there are poor soil conditions or areas with bad drainage such as compacted heavy clay soil.
